Right: The black Kevlar stock added strength. The fore end offered two swivel studs, one for a sling and another for a bipod. The carbon-fiber finish of Caldwell's $85 quick detachable Sitting Bipod was a good match, and the unit provided a sling stud of its own.

Above: After completing our tests, we decided to address the grit and creep we found in the CZ trigger. User-adjustable for pull weight, travel before discharge, and over travel, CZ USA recommended we tune the trigger ourselves. A half turn of the screw greatly improved the performance.
