

KAHR CM9 9MM PARABELLUM, $565
GUN TESTS GRADE: A

Simple and compact with an excellent grip surface, the Kahr CM9 was an excellent, if small, 9mm handgun. It had minimal controls that all worked perfectly. The finish was outstanding, and there was essentially nothing to dislike. That's what makes for a Grade A gun.

Right: We could get only two of our strong-hand fingers onto the short front strap of the Kahr, but that was enough for full control.

SPECIFICATIONS

Overall Length.....	5.5 in.
Overall Height.....	4.2 in.
Barrel Length.....	3.0 in.
Sight Radius.....	4.5 in.
Front Strap Height.....	1.6 in.
Back Strap Height.....	2.4 in.
Weight Unloaded.....	16.6 oz.
Weight Loaded (7 rds. 147-gr.).....	20.1 oz.
Capacity.....	6+1
Maximum Width.....	1.12 in.

Grip Thickness (max).....	0.93 in.
Grip Circumference (max).....	5.0 in.
Frame.....	Black Polymer
Barrel.....	Plated Steel
Slide.....	Matte Stainless Steel
Grip.....	Matte-Black Polymer
Trigger Pull Weight Single Action.....	6.3 lbs.
Trigger Span Single Action.....	3.0 in.
Warranty.....	5-Year Limited
Telephone.....	(508) 795-3919
Website.....	www.Kahr.com
Made in.....	USA

Left: The small Kahr was easy to get apart, and just as easy to get back together. Everything looked good inside.

Below: This Winchester round failed to fire the first time, and gave low velocity the second time we tried it.

The magazine fell clear of our grasping hand, something the Kimber Solo's mag would not do.

