

CZ 452 SILHOUETTE NO. 02030 22 LR, $414

GUN TESTS GRADE: B+

In terms of value, we'd rate it as an 'A' product. This is a great first rifle that very few shooters will choose to sell or trade in.

Two options for mounting a scope on the CZ Silhouette rifle were a set of $57 steel rings that match the 11mm groove in the receiver or the aluminum Weaver Adaptor Rail ($45). Charged with using the same scope for all three rifles, we chose the rail that slid easily into place and was anchored by four Allen screws. Both parts are available from www.CZ-USA.com.

Our rifle arrived with one 5-round magazine, but ten-round magazines are also available.

The simplicity of the CZ rifle is illustrated by the magazine release located just forward of the magazine. It was foolproof and straightforward.

The buttstock on our CZ was capped by a healthy rubber butt pad, but the cheekpiece was the star attraction. It was very comfortable and offered a clean index, which made acquiring the target effortless.

The two-position safety was mounted on the bolt. Shown here with the safety off, pushing the lever forward stalled the action and locked down the bolt handle.
