

CENTURY ARMS INT'L/CANIK55 STINGRAY-C
9MM LUGER, $370

GUN TESTS GRADE: B

This pistol is similar to the CZ-75. Features include an ambidextrous safety lever and slide release, chrome-lined cold-forged barrel, loaded-chamber indicator, adjustable rear sight, and a Picatinny rail. Rubber grips would vastly improve it.

Breakdown to this point was nearly step by step the same as for the AR-24. It has an accessory rail on the bottom of the frame (arrow), which will allow you to mount a laser or flashlight. The steel-framed construction mitigates recoil, but that also has consequences for all-day carry. The safety and slide release are both ambidextrous, and the magazine release can be switched. Because of their similarities, maybe CZ rubber grips would fit.
