

CAESAR GUERINI TEMPIO 3-INCH 12 GAUGE, $3195

GUN TESTS GRADE: A

All of the test shooters said they preferred the Caesar Guerini Tempio. The choice is not that easy, of course, if cost gets factored in. We had no trouble halving that price gap between the Red Label and the Tempio by giving CG reasonable credit for three free service trips, the velvet hard case, and the lifetime warranty. Ultimately, the more you walk, the more you'll likely opt for the Caesar Guerini.

Left and below: The nickel-alloy French grey finish of the CG Tempio, the best wood of the test, and the gorgeous scroll work and well-done gold inlays produced a beautiful machine. There are nice little touches throughout the gun, including the stippled gold trigger.

Left: The Tempio features deluxe Turkish walnut with a hand-rubbed oil finish. We liked the distinct mineral streaks in the wood and the extensive checkering present on the forearm.
