

TAPCO SAW STYLE PISTOL GRIP
STK09201, $20

Gun Tests grade: A-, 'Best buy'

We found the TAPCO SAW Style to be an ergonomic and pocketbook-friendly success. Its increased girth, hand-friendly angle, and exaggerated swell on the bottom of the grip made it easy to find and deploy in tactical drills. Plus, try as we might, its hinged storage end cap refused to become lost. This grip would make a solid choice for the budget minded. This entry would have scored an A, but you'll have to supply rattle proofing.

We found the wider girth, increased angle, and exaggerated flare on the end of the Tapco provided improved ergonomics over the OEM grip.
