

YUGOSLAV TOKAREV M57 7.62 TOKAREV, ABOUT $250
GUN TESTS GRADE: A

This gun showed original contours and finish, and though it didn't include a holster or spare magazine, it was a much better deal, we thought. After a problem related to our poor cleaning was dealt with, this proved to be a reliable, accurate, and fun handgun. We thought the large-handled safety, in a position where you'd find it on a 1911-type pistol, was useful and permitted proper carry of this single-action handgun. Note the lanyard ring on the bottom of the magazine and frame.

SPECIFICATIONS

Overall Length.....	7.7 in.
Overall Height.....	5.7 in.
Barrel Length.....	4.4 in.
Sight Radius.....	6.1 in.
Front Strap Height.....	2.5 in.
Back Strap Height.....	3.6 in.
Weight Unloaded.....	30.9 oz.
Weight Loaded.....	34.7 oz.
Capacity.....	9+1
Maximum Width.....	1.2 in.
Grip Thickness (max).....	1.2 in.
Grip Circumference (max).....	5.0 in.
Frame.....	Blued Steel
Barrel.....	Bare Steel
Slide.....	Blued Steel
Grip.....	Black Plastic
Trigger Pull Weight Single Action.....	7.9 lbs.
Trigger Span Single Action.....	3.1 in.
Warranty.....	N/A
Telephone.....	(800) 944-4867
Website.....	www.SouthernOhioGun.Com

Right: The full-length guide rod was in two pieces, held together by a pin that permitted the assembly to bend, which allowed it to be removed from the gun.

Right: Takedown of the Tokarev is simple. The grips come off by flipping a lever, accessible through the magazine well. Note the full-length guide rod for the slide spring. It is not necessary to remove the barrel bushing to get this gun apart. In fact, it's not possible until the guts are taken out.

